Salt + Light | Witness | Interview with Cardinal Francis George, OMI, Sunday, November 13th, 8:00 p.m.

Among the highly-educated ranks of the American bishops, Cardinal Francis George, OMI has earned a distinguished reputation as "thinker-in-chief". The Cardinal Archbishop of Washington had to summon all of his intellectual and pastoral skills in his challenging role as head of the U.S. bishops' conference from 2007 to 2010. Now as he approaches retirement, Cardinal George shares his insights in a special WITNESS interview with host Fr. Thomas Rosica, CSB.

MARRIAGE TIP OF THE MONTH

In the fall we de-clutter – we look through our material goods, let go of things that are not useful and keep those we need and love. Sometimes relationships need to be de-cluttered too! Look closely at how you interact with your spouse: keep what is working, what connects you and what you love about your relationship and let go of the non-useful "stuff". Are you in the habit of complaining, using sarcasm, acting moody, or spending too much time away from each other? Love is a choice; choose to de-clutter harmful actions and spend more time on those things that connect you and deepen your love.

LITURGY CHANGES COMING —

The words to the Glory to God (Gloria) have been significantly altered in English in order to accurately express the Latin text. Before pointing out the changes, it will be helpful to know a bit more about the translation process which took place prior to 1970. The English-speaking Bishops through their international commission (ICEL) worked closely with an ecumenical body, the International Consultation on English Texts (ICET), in order to develop common English liturgical texts which could be used in all the major Christian denominations. As a result, some of the translations were less than accurate, but appealing to all.

The first change we notice in the Glory to God is in the first two lines, which have frequently been used as a sung refrain. The new words are:

Glory to God in the highest,
and on earth peace to people of good will.

The Latin text reads:

*Gloria in excelsis Deo
et in terra pax hominibus bonae voluntatis.*

The words, bonae voluntatis, were omitted in the previous English translation.

The next section of the Glory to God has greatly changed to include every word that is found in the Latin text:

We praise you,
we bless you,
we adore you,
we glorify you,
we give you thanks for your great glory,
Lord God, heavenly King,
O God, almighty Father.

The present English translation abbreviated this text to express the general ideas, but did not faithfully translate the text in its entirety. The result of the new translation is a longer and more complete text. However, it poses challenges for musical settings. There are far too many words to be sung using the existing melodies. For this reason, all parishes will be engaged in learning a new musical setting of the Glory to God.
